THERE ARE HOMES THAT MAKE you feel older the moment you enter them.

These are the homes where the husband refuses to buy ELECTRICAL LABOR SAVING APPLIANCES for the wife and she has to worry along in the out of date and tiresome method in the performance of her household duties.

You are on the right track Mr. Husband when you send for us instead of the Doctor when your wife's health has broken down from over work.

We replace your coal-oil lamps with Electric Lights, Broom with a Vacuum Sweeper, Flat iron with an Electric iron, wash board with an Electric washer. This beats a doctor's service.

Large gas wells, near our Ashtabula lease, reported as being good for over one million cubic feet of gas daily, or enough to supply the entire city of four thousand families.

Gas wells flowing two hundred thousand cubic feet daily, connected to a pipe line, would amount to $25,000 per year, or equal to the total amount of the preferred issue of this company. One lease is about seven hundred feet from the big well.

We are interested in the Lodi—Chatham oil fields with four producing oil wells, and will make locations, for several more wells, when funds are available.

Bonus of 20 shares of common on $100.00 purchase of preferred.

We expect to drill several wells, where you can go and look over your own interests. Cost to drill, at Lodi, $1000, Ashtabula, $6000.00.

LITCHFIELD

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dell Eaken was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Saturday, March 19, when Miss Mabel Eaken became the wife of Mr. Myron Barth. The bright sunshine added to the beauty of the spring flowers, which made the rooms a bower of beauty. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out with daffodils, potted plants and white bells. The bride wore a beautiful gown of embroidered georgette crepe over white satin. Her veil was caught by sweetheart rose buds and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers. Miss Eaken was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Eaken, in a yellow gown with a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. Barth was accompanied by a cousin, Mr. Harry Knopf, as best man. Two picturesque members of the bridal party were little Elsie Whitright of Lodi, who carried a basket of roses, and Master Marshall Miner of Chatham, ring bearer. Before the ceremony Miss Eleanor Bryenton sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. Homer Homan at the piano. For the entrance of the bridal party the wedding march from "Lo-hengrin" was played by Miss Marie Barth, sister of the groom. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the words which united two lives in one were spoken by Rev. E. E. Scoville, pastor of the Congregational church. After receiving the congratulations of their friends the company was served a dainty wedding dinner, the waitresses in their dresses of white, pink and blue adding to the charm of the occasion. The only drawback to an ideal day was the absence of the grandfather and uncle of the bride. All regretted that sickness and accident made it impossible for them to be present. The guests from out of town were as follows: Mrs. J. W. House, Mr. W. E. House, Misses Mary and Jane House, Mr. Will Carston, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Eaken and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Will Eaken of Medina; Mr. and Mrs. Fred House, Lawrence Williams, Miss Edna Williams and her little niece, Elsie Whitright of Lodi; Mr. and Mrs. Minns and family, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Homan of Chatham; Dr. Bessie Walling of Norwalk, Mr. and Mrs. C. Myers and daughter of Grafton; Mrs. Helen Myers, Miss Lauretta Benedict of Mallet Creek; Rev. E. E. Scoville and wife of Bedford.
